Women Continue to Lead For Peace as RAMSI Leaves

“It is on us now to make sure the government, (as well as) civil society... to be responsible to each other, take ownership of the (National Action Plan on Women, Peace and Security) and to see it as a guiding document to continue to help us after RAMSI leaves us,” said Josephine Teakeni, of Vois Blong Mere Solomons, ahead of next week's Global Partnership for the Prevention of Armed Conflict (GPPAC) Pacific network meeting in Suva.

Teakeni is the GPPAC Pacific focal point for the Solomon Islands and a network leader who contributed to the formulation and adoption of the Pacific Regional Action Plan on Women, Peace and Security (2012-2015).

In an interview with femLINKpacific (26th of June) she suggested how GPPAC Pacific could support the integration of the Solomon Islands National Action Plan on Women, Peace and Security – the first in the region.

Sugar Talks Must Feature Women's Voices

by Alisia Evans

“I used to have 200 tonnes, 150 tonnes (of sugarcane after harvest) but now it (has) drop(ped) down to 10 tonnes (following Tropical Cyclone Winston),” fretted Sarojini Gounder a sugar cane farmer based in Rakiraki. “So, if it’s $10 (per tonne)... $100 (will be my only income) so I don’t know how I’m going to pay for my labours.”

FemTALK89FM's Birthday

press release – 18th May (15/2017)

It all began with a shared vision following the events of May 2000 in Fiji to promote 'women speaking to women for peace'. It linked Section J of the Beijing Platform for Action and UN Security Council Resolution (UNSCR) 1325 which was adopted on October 31 2000. The vision of the co-founders collective of femLINKpacific was to provide a media platform for women across the Pacific - starting in Fiji, which included radio, press and television programmes.
